Tennessee Weekly Legislative Update, 2/26 – 3/01, 2024

Another Day, Another Dollar

Mark Green No Longer Retiring

Notably, U.S. Representative Mark Green is no longer retiring from his position in Congress; despite his retirement plans that he announced two weeks ago. Green states, “While my strong desire was to leave Congress at the end of this year, since my announcement, I have received countless calls from constituents, colleagues, and President Trump urging me to reconsider.” Representative Green is now actively seeking re-election to continue serving the interests of the people of Tennessee.
